

Our Commitment to Work Health Safety and Injury Management

South Eastern Sydney Local Health District (SESLHD) is committed to achieving the highest standards in Work Health and Safety (WHS), Injury Management (IM), and the continuous improvement of our safety culture, through measurable objectives and targets.

We will achieve this through:

- Implementing robust work health and safety policies, programs and risk management principles
- Engaging in consultation, coordination and cooperation processes with our workers, volunteers and contractors
- Providing education and training based on defined competencies, and resources to support people in working safely
- Defining the WHS responsibilities and accountabilities for workers across all levels of SESLHD
- Preventing work related injuries and illnesses, by systematically identifying, reporting, assessing and controlling WHS hazards and risks, and encouraging workers to report errors and hazards
- Collaborating to encourage and recognise innovative safety practices and continuous improvement solutions
- Providing and sponsoring programs that support the safety, health and wellbeing of workers
- Appropriately managing injured workers to support their early, sustainable and safe return to work
- Complying with WHS Legislation, Regulations, Codes of Practice and Ministry of Health requirements, and the continuous monitoring of compliance with WHS obligations in the workplace, by managers, employees, volunteers, contractors (including agency workers and visiting medical officers), contractors and their employees, suppliers, students, trainees and apprentices.

As part of managing workplace safety and health we will all strive to demonstrate our core values of Collaboration, Openness, Respect and Empowerment
