

Royal Hospital for Women
Barker Street
Randwick NSW 2031

Registered Midwife GradStart – 2021

The Royal Hospital for Women (RHW) offers opportunities for midwives to develop their skills in a variety of midwifery practice areas. These opportunities are available to graduates who have completed the Bachelor of Midwifery in 2020.

Why RHW?

RHW is a multi-faceted tertiary referral and teaching hospital offering women a wide range of comprehensive women's health services. It is one of the world's leading hospitals for mothers and babies and for women with benign gynaecological and gynae-oncology conditions. From 2020 we have also been able to offer publicly funded IVF services.

The hospital is committed to the provision of evidence based health care for women and engaging in research into how to best provide that care. This is reflected through the many and diverse research projects undertaken in all areas of the hospital.

The Royal Hospital for Women is the only stand-alone Women's Hospital in NSW providing unique opportunities for innovative clinical practice initiatives. It is part of South East Sydney Local Health District and is co-located with other hospitals on the Randwick Hospitals Campus. The campus offers one of the State's most comprehensive ranges of facilities and expertise in health care.

RHW is close to some of Sydney's best beaches, restaurants and sporting facilities. With light rail and bus transport easily accessible making Sydney's central business district and iconic harbor only 20 minutes away, adding a quality lifestyle to the satisfaction that comes from working within a committed and dedicated team.

Our services include

The Royal Hospital for Women offers women a choice of models of care. These options include hospital based medical clinics, GP/Share care with midwives, Maternity Antenatal and Postnatal Services (MAPS) and Midwifery Group Practice (MGP).

Antenatal care is provided through the hospital antenatal clinics by hospital based medical clinics, GP/Share care with midwives. Care is provided in the RHW outpatients department or GP surgery during pregnancy, with labour and birth care by midwives in Birthing Services.

Postnatal care is provided either in the hospital postnatal ward, with Midwifery Support Program who offer home visits and phone consultations after discharge.

MAPS antenatal care is provided by a known midwife who follows women through antenatal care and postnatal care in collaboration with a GP. Labour and birth care by midwives in Birthing Services with MAPS postnatal follow up care via home visits / phone consultations after discharge.

MGP offers women care by a known midwife within a small group of midwives. This model provides continuity of care throughout pregnancy, labour and birth and the postnatal period. MGP encourage women to be discharged early in the postnatal period where care continues in the woman's home.

The hospital also provides gynaecology, gynaecological oncology, obstetrics, midwifery led care, Birthing Centre, fertility and IVF services, endogynaecology, breast surgery and foetoscopy, Newborn Intensive Care Centre, Adult

Acute Care Centre, Menopause Centre, Breast Screening, Library, Mothersafe, Adolescent Gynaecology.

Commencement Date

The proposed commencement date is January/February 2021

Transition Framework

The Royal Hospital for Women is offering Transition midwives opportunities to consolidate their knowledge and skills in their first postgraduate year.

They will have the opportunity to work in an environment which will expose them to models of midwifery led care. Extended rotation across all of Maternity services occurs (except MGP, MAPS & Antenatal Outpatients).

The transition consists of a comprehensive orientation to both the hospital and each unit. Individualised professional development plans are prepared during the orientation phase and are supported by attendance at relevant programs and in-service education. Regular performance appraisals assist to monitor progress towards the achievement of personal goals and also help ensure that midwives are developing professionally.

Support is provided by Midwifery Educators and Clinical Midwifery Consultants and in-house education and skill development opportunities. Clinical supervision is offered to all staff.

A fully rotating roster is worked throughout with the election to work a 12 hour shift pattern. There is the opportunity on successful completion of the program to apply for on-going employment.
